Tenure-Track Faculty Positions in Computer Science

Duke University invites applications and nominations for four tenure-track or tenured faculty positions in all areas of computer science, and for two additional joint positions between Computer Science and other departments. Areas include artificial intelligence, machine learning, computer systems, security and privacy, database systems, computer vision, algorithms, optimization, as well as interdisciplinary work that relates to the social sciences or biological sciences. Positions are at all ranks and to begin July 2019.

Candidates are expected to have a doctoral degree in computer science or related areas. A successful candidate must have a solid disciplinary foundation and demonstrate promise of outstanding scholarship in every regard, including research and teaching.

The Duke faculty and student communities are currently very diverse and are strongly committed to further enhancing this diversity. We seek faculty members who are committed to building a diverse and inclusive community, which fosters excellence in research and teaching. We strongly encourage applications from women and underrepresented minorities in computing. Please see www.cs.duke.edu and www.provost.duke.edu/faculty for information about the Department and advantages that Duke offers to faculty.

Applicants should submit their materials (cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, contacts for at least three references) electronically through AcademicJobsOnline: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/12079, and solicit letters of reference. For full consideration, applications and references should be received by December 15, 2018.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Durham, Chapel Hill, and the Research Triangle of North Carolina are frequently ranked among the best places in the country to live and work. Duke and the many other universities in the area offer a wealth of education and employment opportunities for spouses and families.